Pittsburgh Man Says Waterway Too Expensive

Labor Management Unit Claims Project Would Create Jobs

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Congressmen, representatives of the Youngstown steel industry, railroad representatives and a minister pleading the cause of a village that would be buried by a proposed Lake Erie-to-Ohio River Canal...

These were among the witnesses who presented widely divergent views on the proposed waterway at a hearing conducted by the Army Corps of Engineers here Monday.

Vigorous opposition came from John C. Bane of Pittsburgh, representing the Upper Ohio Valley Association, which is dominated by the railroads.

He said the waterway would cost "a billion and one-third dollars and 50 million dollars a year to operate."

"The Panama Canal didn't cost that," said Bane. "Neither did the St. Lawrence Seaway."

The loss to the railroads in freight shipments would come to $100 million a year, Bane said, adding that for $100 million the government could build a railroad along the proposed canal route and haul ore and coal free of charge for many years.

A labor management team from the Youngstown area presented a plea for the canal. James P. Griffin, director of District 26 of the United Steelworkers of America, said the Youngstown-Warren area is slowly and surely dying, and the railroads are chiefly responsible."

The area has more than 20,000 unemployed steelworkers, he said, because the plants cannot compete with those located where public funds have built waterways. He referred specifically to the Delaware River Valley and the Chicago area.

Legion Post Picks Herman Commander

John Herman Jr., who had been serving as first vice commander, was elected commander of the Charles H. Carey Post 56 of the American Legion at the group's weekly meeting Monday night at the Legion home.

Herman has been an active Legionnaire since 1946. A World War II veteran, he served in the Air Corps as a first sergeant for four years. He has been commander of the Columbiana County Council of the Legion. Employed as a foreman at the Eljer Co., Herman was the first World War II commander of the 10th District of the American Legion, the largest district in Ohio.

In his acceptance speech, Herman urged all Legionnaires to make an effort to help in various community service programs and to help move Salem ahead. The post adopted a new slogan for 1962, "The Post with the Forward Look for '62." The post also went on record to undertake the "Back to God" program in February.

The post's birthday dinner was set for March 17 at the post home. Phillip Lustig, department commander of the Legion of Ohio, will be the main speaker.

Membership cards will be given out at the dinner. Over 75 members in the post have more than 35 years of continuous service in the Legion.

Plans have been made by the post to send four boys to "Boys State" this summer. Expansion plans for the Legion's Junior Studios above State Theatre-Ad

Failure To Reach Test Ban Truce Biggest Disappointment Western Unity High Spot In President's First Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy says failure to reach agreement with the Soviet Union on a nuclear test ban was the biggest disappointment of his first year in the White House.

"This," he said, could have been "a very important step in easing tensions."

The most heartening development, he believes, was a "great surge for unity" among the Western Allies and in Latin America.

In his first news conference of the year—five days before the first anniversary of his inauguration—Kennedy touched on nearly a subject a minute Monday, roaming from the farm problem at home to Laos and Berlin abroad.

Steel — He hopes for a quick agreement between industry and the union to avert a strike and In his State of the Union message, he promised to present the hasty stockpiling of steel that might impede the nation's economic recovery. Contracts expire in June.

Laos — The risk of war is the alternative to the risk of Communist control of coalition governments in Southeast Asia, he said. "We are taking a chance in all of Southeast Asia. We are taking a chance in other areas also."

In his judgment "it is in the best interest of our country to work for a neutral and independent Laos."

Farm — Kennedy set a goal of reasonable balance between farm output and demand to insure that the farm income "will not be broken by surpluses, as it was to a substantial extent in the '20s."

In his State of the Union message, he promised to present

Guest speaker was Miss Takayo Kinoshita of Japan, who is residing with Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Lehwald while attending Salem Senior High School as an American Field Service foreign exchange student.

Mrs. Lehwald presented Miss Kinoshita, who told of the customs of her native land and compared opportunities for education in America to those afforded in Japan.

To honor the Japanese speaker, Mrs. Homer Taylor selected Japanese poems as part of her devotional service, and the group sang, "In God There Is No East or West," with Miss Zimmerman at the piano.

Mrs. King presented two members of the Music Study Club, Mrs. A. W. Kilian and Mrs. Joseph Barnes, who entertained with

Renewal of School Levies Discussed

Board To Borrow Funds For Payroll

The Salem Board of Education voted last night to borrow $50,000 to meet the school payroll for the second half of January.

Although the Salem City School District closed 1961 with a $41,953 surplus in the general fund, this was not a sufficient amount to preclude the necessity to borrow funds this year until school foundation and real estate tax monies start coming in.

Clerk-Treasurer Wallace King said it probably will be necessary to borrow approximately $170,000 between now and the end of February when the first tax and foundation distributions are expected.

The schools have had to borrow to meet January payrolls for each of the past four years. An effort is being made to build up a cumulative encumbrance to take care of future January payrolls so it will not be necessary to borrow.

The board discussed briefly last night school levies that are to be renewed this year. There was some question as to which levies expire this year. The records will be checked and a special meeting called later this month to decide what levies should be placed on the ballots at the May primaries. Feb. 7 is the deadline for filing with the county board of elections.

In other action last night, the Board of Education appointed Matthew H. Mawhinney for another term on the board of trustees of the Salem Public Library. The appointment was recommended by the library board.

In line with the school board's policy which provides salary adjustments for teachers who acquire additional credits, Walter Newton was given a raise from $5,450 to $5,550 and Mrs. Hilda Hunter was given a pay hike from $4,900 to $5,825 annually

Inquiry Into Financial Status Seen

Kennedy Asks Increase In Nation's Debt Limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said today President Kennedy is requesting a $10-billion increase in the national debt limit.

Byrd announced a sweeping inquiry into the nation's financial condition.

The Virginia senator said in an interview he will ask the Senate Finance Committee, which he heads, to go into all aspects of federal spending and taxation before it acts on a proposed boost of the limit from $298 billion to a record-breaking $308 billion.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon said in a memorandum to Byrd and Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, that such an increase is necessary if the Treasury is to meet its future bills.

Reasbeck, former superintendent of mails at the Post Office, is a Democrat. Hoover, a Republican and former city treasurer, is now deputy auditor in the city income tax department.

along with the temporary increase to $300 billion because "The President told me personally that otherwise the government couldn't pay its bills."

"But before we make any further increases, I think the country should be told exactly where we stand financially," he said. "We have gone along the road of reckless spending and debt increases as far as we can go."

"I know of no more pressing duty on the Congress than to obtain as clear a picture as possible of these unconscionable debts and then appraise the situation to find out what can be done about them. Our tax burden is the highest in history and to increase it substantially would have serious repercussions."

Noting that the country has been on a deficit financing basis in 26 of the last 31 years, Byrd said he thinks this year's bulge of expenditures may climb as high as $10 billion above receipts. The Treasury has forecast a $304.5 billion next Dec. 16 and give the Treasury about the $3 billion elbow room it needs to operate under the ceiling.

Byrd said he is willing to go

Ex-Constable Is Reinstated

Hanover Trustees Bow To Public Ire

HANOVERTON — Backed by a 300-name petition and several influential spokesmen, Roy Painter of Hanoverton was reinstated Monday as Hanover Township constable for over 12 years.

Township trustees had abolished the post Jan. 1 after Painter had been constable for over 12 years.

The meeting was scheduled for the township house but, because of the tide of public housing when he received it will serve the public interest and advance the cause of civil rights. He claimed more progress in the field during the last 12 months than the previous eight years and said his record may be judged properly at the end of this year "and at the end of our term."

Algerian Terrorists Continue Rampage

France Seeks Way To Halt Massacre

ALGIERS (AP) — French authorities studied new and harsher measures today to cope with the tide of violence in Algeria's clandestine war.

Three killings in Oran boosted the overnight death toll to 20. Half a dozen persons were wounded in combat between European and Moslem terrorist organizations.

Louis Joxe, French minister for Algerian affairs, met with the territory's top officials at the new seaside administrative center of Rocher Noir, 30 miles from Algiers.

They were reported to be discussing the possible proclamation of state of siege, which would clamp tighter restrictions on Algeria's already closely regulated civil life.

The day's events included a daylight holdup of an Algerian bank by five Europeans. They escaped in a motor car with the equivalent of $18,000. This may have been nothing more than an ordinary crime, but in the tense atmosphere of Algiers it was immediately assumed the Europeans were robbing the bank on behalf of the right-wing French Secret Army Organization.

They were reported to be discussing the possible proclamation of state of siege, which would clamp tighter restrictions on Algeria's already closely regulated civil life.

After two hours of discussion, trustees Chester Conser and Charles J. Gause voted to re-establish the post and rehire Painter at the former rate — $150 per month.

Board President Orein A. Naragon announced the following committee appointments for 1962: Athletics and Playgrounds — Robert Campbell and Gail Heron.

Buildings, Grounds and Real Estate — Atty. Bryce Kendall, Dr. Ralph Starbuck and Campbell.

Painter said he was gratified and honored at the support of the community in his behalf.

The trustees said the post was abolished because of the lack of funds. Petitioners suggested that police protection was too important and should not be the first service eliminated.

Painter said he was gratified and honored at the support of the community in his behalf.

Informed sources expressed belief the African group would not seek penalties against Portugal for its actions.

Any resolution will need Western support to ensure the two-thirds majority required for adoption.

Poland, cosponsor with Bulgaria of a resolution calling on the Security Council to consider harsh penalties against the Lisbon government, was slated to take the floor as the 104-nation General Assembly's Angola debate went into its second day.

The former French Congo also was expected to blast Portugal's administration of Angola and to demand freedom for the West African territory.

Informed sources expressed belief the African group would not seek penalties against Portugal for its actions.

Indonesian officials claimed their boat was sunk 25 miles off the New Guinea coast. They said Indonesia would accuse the Dutch of provocation in a complaint to U.N. acting Secretary-General U Thant.

At the Hague, Dutch Prime Minister Jan de Quay said after an emergency Cabinet meeting his government also would express to the United Nations "our concern about the Indonesian attack."

He said the Dutch would assure the United Nations "that we remain willing to start negotiations at once" with Indonesia on the future of West New Guinea, which Indonesian President Sukarno has threatened to take by invasion if the Dutch do not give it up. Thant, in similar cables to Sukarno and De Quay, expressed deep concern over the clash and again urged both countries to seek a peaceful settlement.

Indonesian and Dutch accounts of the clash differed considerably.

The Dutch said their air and naval units patrolling off the south coast of Dutch New Guinea encountered the group of Soviet-built torpedo boats and the Indonesians fired on a Dutch plane.

The Dutch plane returned the fire, the Dutch said, and then the Dutch ships joined in the hour-long exchange.

Jani said Dutch force of one destroyer, one frigate and one plane attacked the Indonesian vessels without warning, and that Indonesian boats were engaged in "purely patrol activity."

No one — even a civilian — with any knowledge of naval matters would imagine that a group of motor torpedo boats constituted an invasion force," he said.

Claims Dutch Attacked In Neutral Waters

Lost Torpedo Boat Reportedly Carried Above-Normal Crew

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — President Sukarno's government admitted today it lost a torpedo boat in a clash with Dutch forces off West New Guinea. But it scoffed at Dutch invasion charges and claimed the Dutch deliberately launched the attack in international waters.

Maj. Gen. Achmad Jani, head of Indonesia's recently created New Guinea operational staff, gave no indication of Indonesian casualties other than to say only one vessel was lost.

In Hollandia, capital of Dutch New Guinea, the Dutch navy said Dutch naval and air units sank one Indonesian torpedo boat Monday night and probably a second, drove off others, and took 50 Indonesians prisoner. A communiqué

Capitol Face-Lifting Done

All's Comfy Now In Halls of Congress

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Congressmen now reconvened and tourists visiting Washington have taken their first look at the results of the Capitol's $23 million beauty bath.

No striking differences are apparent from the outside of the building. But without changing the lines, the east front in the center of the building — between Senate and House wings — has been moved out so that the Capitol dome no longer overhangs the east portico. This is where the President takes his oath of office at Inauguration.

The whole building has also been cleaned, including a new coat of paint for the dome. The effect of this face lifting has been to make the whole Capitol look as it's supposed to — clean and white.

THE BIG CHANGES are all inside the new extension. This extension, a pet project of the late House Speaker, is commonly known as "Sam Rayburn's east front."

Most of the additions are devoted to improving the daily life of the Congressman. There are new dining rooms and reception rooms in both House and Senate wings, new committee rooms and offices everywhere.

Marriage Postponed Indefinitely

Objections to merging the Pennsylvania Railroad and the New York Central Railroad will come so thick and fast that marriage of the two transportation systems will be postponed indefinitely.

Even if it could take place next week there still would be nothing to shout about with joy. The merger is not a happy situation, unless happiness can be found these days in how good it would feel not to feel bad.

The merger would be for the purpose of salvaging as much as possible out of the railroad transportation prospects wrecked by the internal combustion engine. First it nibbled at local passenger business, then at along and finally at long-distance passenger business when the airplane quit being a novelty and became a workhorse. Now it is consuming them whole-hog.

The bright spot in railroad gloss is certainly that business finally must be approaching an irreducible minimum and there's no way to go from here on but up. Eventually, from the standpoint of economics, surviving railroads will get out of the Red Sea.

The question is whether the same yapping politicians, regulators and socializers who have been in hot pursuit during the 20th century will let them survive.

Will the winning argument come from the managers of the Pennsy and the New York Central on the proposed merger, or will the winners be the same fumblers and fixers who over-regulated railroads and spooned their competitors, thus hastening the financial trouble the short-haul eastern rail systems now are experiencing?

IT'S A good question.

But don't bet on a good answer.

The government could say No, or it could piddle around so long before saying Yes that damage to the two rail systems would be irreparable.

The public authorities whose hands control the fate of vital railroad utilities could falter so disastrously there would be no need for a

Out Thar In the West

Judging by the news of recent days, a visitor to the western states next summer might expect to see stage coaches back in operation.

First there was the story about Don Hight, the South Dakota rancher who drove his herd of 1,833 cattle to the market after the fashion of the Old West.

Then there was the report that the Ozark community of Table Rock Lake, Mo., was asking the Post Office Department to revive the Pony Express.

Americans are romanticists at heart. Witness the perennial popularity of the cowboy and Indian theme in fiction. The movies and television.

Is it too unreasonable to expect that, modernists notwithstanding, that the West will rise again?

So, if you are planning to drive out West, pay heed to signs along the highway. Particularly the one in Utah that says: "Indian chasing buffalo has the right of way."

Let's Get Off This Log and Swim For It

Inside Labor

Victor Riesel

During the recent bus strike which took the fume-belching behemoths off the streets of a sprawling half of New York City, some young Republicans got up a car pool. They stationed their motors at strategic corners and ran the proletariat cross town so folks could get to work on time — free of charge.

These young ones of the GOP may have acted on their own. Or they may have been at the street level end of a chain of command which had sent down the gist of a confidential Republican National Committee report on rewinning the labor vote from the Democrats.

In this seven page, double spaced section of a master report on tactics for retaking the big cities, the GOP strategists scoff at the thought that labor is permanently "in the other camp."

In this intra-party report, dated Dec. 11, the GOP tacticians, writing of previous efforts to recapture the "field of labor," tell the party's national chiefs that their organization has had "poor liaison work poor discipline, poor follow up."

NOW, says the blueprint for political action in this make or break congressional election year, the time has come to stop insulting the labor vote, the time has come to stop ignoring it, the time has come to woo it, raise political funds for labor leaders willing to join with the Republicans, nominate union officials for public office, offer them "part-time patronage jobs," invade the places of employment with "in-plant" "in-office" and even "in-plant" Republican organizers.

This document, prepared by the Committee on Big City Politics tells the national GOP chiefs that strenuous efforts must be made right now to "relate the Republican party to the working man and the working man to the Republican party."

Organizers will saturate the big cities and the suburbs. This report is as specific as it is ambitious — right down to instructions to win over female clerks and waitresses.

THERE ARE guide lines in this hitherto unreported document for walloping Mr. Kennedy — as President and political chief.

"Point out," says this sub-committee report on Labor, Business, Professional and Independent Groups submitted to Chairman Miller, "inconsistencies and duplicities in the records of Democratic incumbents and party: the Kennedy 'millionaire cabinet,' North-South split; inflation and tax increases under Democrats; Democratic control of Congress 26 of past 30 years."

The strategy group, whose recommendations were accepted, said: "At times organizations (Republican) appear afraid to broaden the base of the party, frightened by the ridiculous myth that labor groups — heavily populated by ethnic groups which came to this nation originally to escape statism — are dedicated to statism."

The DOCUMENT gets mighty specific. There is a section on incentives to labor people to attract them to the Republican party. Says the blueprint: "Recognition should be continuing — honorary appointments, committee assignments press coverage."

It is here that the action program says "Encouragement must include part-time patronage jobs, aid in financing campaigns for better prospects. Candidate selection: Evaluate blue collar and white collar workers, union members and officials, outstanding unorganized workers for potential in running for office on Republican tickets."

This challenge is still far from the jousting. The dueling is still distant from any victory — but the Big City strategists say frankly they'd like and need the large blocs of potential votes which they say "remain relatively untrapped."

Here, too, are "manpower and financial resources."

These are really daring politicos — these men who believe they can cleave labor, or any part thereof, from the Democrats. It will take considerable outbidding.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I could have cheerfully strangled you when you told that poor woman birthday and anniversary gifts have no real meaning. Maybe they don't mean anything to YOU, "Miss Heart of Stone," but they mean a great deal to most women.

My husband is one of those tightwads who doesn't believe in gifts. Last week was my birthday. When he handed me a beautifully wrapped box I almost passed out from the shock. I opened the box and there was my lousy column — in a frame that must have cost $8.

I could have brained him. For what he spent on that frame he could have bought me a nice set of earrings.

You do more damage than good. Why don't you go back to housework? — FORMER READER.

Dear Former: I don't expect you will see this, but for the benefit of others I must say that your husband's sense of humor has some pretty sharp edges.

This next letter on the same subject expresses another point of view.

Dear Eunice: Write your sister a note suggesting that you two start discussing at once the matter of selling the house. Then START TALKING. So long as there is no oral communication between you two, you'll never settle anything.

It sounds as if you are poison for each other. Going your separate ways is a great deal more sensible than sharing twin beds in a mental hospital, which could be the alternative.

Confidentially

TO UNCONVINCED: If you could read just one day's batch of my mail, you'd no longer be "Unconvinced." I could never make up letters to compare with the ones I receive from my readers. So help me.

TO FREE AND EASY: The arrangement you have in mind is neither free nor easy, for a woman, that is. It is usually horribly expensive and extremely difficult.

TO WAITING FOR YOUR ANSWER: If you name your son Shirley, teach him how to fight.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The State of Politics

By DAVID LAWRENCE

JFK's Message Calculated To Win Votes

Time was when a State of the Union message by the president to Congress was expected to give a frank analysis of what was actually happening inside the United States, as well as legislative proposals dealing with vital problems but in recent years it has become an opportunity for extra publicity through radio and television — a message based largely on political strategy.

Naturally, it is prepared carefully in an attempt to curry favor with large groups of voters by promising them benefits, special privileges and, particularly, a large share of federal funds.

President Kennedy didn't tell the American people of the chaotic internal situation that the nation faces as it struggles to emerge from one recession when the same basic causes are threatening another economic setback within the next 18 months. He didn't devote a single paragraph to the all-important question of monopoly as practiced by trade union groups.

He spoke only in general terms about desirable self restraints and the importance of productivity and stability. These, however, are meaningless words today in the absence of concrete legislative recommendations to curb monopoly on every side.

The President emphasized, instead, more and more handouts of money, such as possible reductions of some income taxes in the lower brackets. He promised large sums for medical care, which, of course, will be paid for out of an increase in Social Security taxes levied on almost everybody.

Whenever there's an international crisis, the American people is more secure if more and more money is spent for defense. The President's recommendations in this respect will, in the main, be approved by Congress.

The President's obviously political proposal to furnish medical care to aged persons, irrespective of whether he or she has the money to pay for such care, will encounter bitter opposition in Congress.

There is still a feeling that self-reliance should be encouraged as far as possible, and that, while the government should find a means of taking care of the indigent and the needy, it should not furnish medical aid to those who are able to afford it themselves or who have provided it through voluntary insurance and other medical aid plans.

PERHAPS the most controversial of all the President's proposals is his advocacy of a five-year plan that will delegate to the executive branch of the government the right to reduce tariffs arbitrarily in exchange for concessions from other countries, especially those in the Common Market of Europe. This is a complex problem with no easy solution.

So far as business is concerned, it was given a small sop in the form of a tiny credit on tax payments — if money is invested in new equipment. But the formula is skimpy and doesn't promise the depreciation allowances across-the-board which are so necessary to help the heavy-goods industries as a whole. This is where unemployment is greatest.

The critics, to be sure, will not get "equal time" to present their arguments right away but in due course the majority of the voters will find that there is no panacea in mere words or in spectacular or dramatic messages to Congress.

Basketball Game Suggestions

At every home basketball game, F. E. Cope talks of winning the Sportsmanship Trophy that is to be presented to a member of the new Big 8 league at the end of this season.

At these same games, I see the coaches and members of the visiting teams being moved all over the bleachers and chairs by people with reserved seat tickets. The varsity players must stand for the reserve game, and the reserve players, tired from playing their game, must stand for the varsity game.

I believe it would be a nice gesture on the part of the Salem High School, to reserve about 20 chairs at the south end of the gymnasium for the visiting coaches and teams.

The fire chief says that half the aisle must be kept open during the games. There are few enough seats for students in that big "white elephant" of a gymnasium as it is, without taking more seats from the students. I am sure that in case of fire, the spectators would all file orderly down the aisles as they do now when the games are over. There is not a third of the people that use the aisles at the end of the game.

Like the Indian, the buffalo apparently migrated to the New World from Asia. Buffalo herds crossed the old land bridge at the Bering strait some 400,000 years ago—many thousands of years before the first man. So anybody who judges an American by how long his ancestors have been here had better pay his respects to the ungainly buffalo—the oldest American of us all.

ment, saying he was not an expert in engineering and water resource but only in "the agony, fears and sufferings of human beings."

He said there will be "cries of human anguish" if Austintown, a village of 1,500, "is forced to sacrifice its famous and historic institutions, to dissolve its businesses, abandon its homesteads, desert its care of the dead, forsake its farmlands, sell its livestock, uproot its orchards, forego its potential, re-establish its aged, transfer its youth, seek new employment, new homes, new churches, new centers." Austintown would be flooded if the canal is constructed.

Although many witnesses asked that hearings be held in their areas, Col. Bert DeMeler, head of the Pittsburgh Corps office, said no further hearings are planned.

Route of the proposed canal would run from west of Ashtabula on Lake Erie to Rochester, Pa., through the Grand, Mahoning and Beaver river valleys.

An important feature on the 105-mile waterway would be a Grand River reservoir. Several communities and 120 square miles of land would be flooded to make that reservoir. Seven locks would lift shipping from the lake into the 30-mile-long reservoir and over the Great Divide. Eight locks on the other side would bring the vessels down to the river.

Rep. Michael J. Kirwan, the leadoff witness Monday, called the railroad spokesmen "muscle men" and called Ohio and Pennsylvania "two of the most backward states." He said Ohio "has Lake Erie and the Ohio River and hasn't done a thing to improve it in 300 years."

Others who spoke in favor of the canal included: Hudson Biery of Cincinnati, executive vice president of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association, and Robert E. Scott of Cambridge, general counsel of the Ohio Coal Association.

Opponents included Edward M. Simmons, city manager of Sandusky, David DeLuca, city manager of Ashtabula; Dean E. Sheldon, city manager of Huron, and John H. McLain, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of greater Pittsburgh.

Palestine Light Plant Report Is Presented

EAST PALESTINE — New switch gear equipment recently installed in the municipal light plant will be placed in operation this weekend, Service Director George McGuckin reported to City Council Monday night.

It is hoped to make the transition without an interruption in service.

The annual service department report showed the municipal light plant produced 19,978,000 k.w. last year, an increase of a million k.w. over 1960. Revenue from the plant was $385,587, an increase of $40,000 over 1960. This reflects not only the increased consumption but the results of an over-all rate increase placed in effect last April.

Industrial rates were increased approximately one third and the average domestic user 75 cents per month. A total of 40 million pounds of coal was used in 1961 to 39 million in 1960.

Chester R. Whitehouse, Council president, presided.

Quakers Move Up To 8th Place In Ohio 'AA' Cage Poll

By FRITZ HOWELL

Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Butler County, which has captured 9 of the last 18 Ohio Class AA high school basketball championships, has another powerhouse in the making.

This time it's a new school—Hamilton Taft—picking up where the former Hamilton Big Blue and Middletown's fabuous Middies left off.

Taft, with 14 straight conquests, was named the state's top team in the weekly Associated Press poll today. Cleveland East Tech skidded to second place despite a rollicking 90-37 win over Cleveland Benedictine last week.

But Taft's conquest, 82-70 over Paul Walker's Middletown troupe on the Middie court, was the eye-catcher, and sports editors pointed their support into the Taft team's cup. Earlier, at Hamilton, Taft had trimmed the Middies 79-70, but few thought Coach Marv McCollum's crew could repeat on the Middie hardwoods.

In the first of the Class A ratings, made this week, Ayersville's Class A last year, moved up to defending champions made a runaway of it. The Defiance County powerhouse, victor in 73 of its last 74 games and boasting 44 straight wins including 14 this year, more than doubled the poll point total of runner-up Fostoria St. Wendelin—258 to 126.

From here and there:

East Tech is averaging 79 on offense and 45 on defense.

Butler County also boasts a red-hot Class A club in Seven Mile which has won nine in a row. The Seven Mile standout, Arnold Fugate, played only three quarters in the 87-67 win over Reily, but scored 38 points.

Bristol, Trumbull County's only clean team, has a 74-42 point edge over a dozen foes.

Ed Spriggs, unbeaten Jackson's 6-foot-8 center, broke the school record with 51 points against Ligon last Friday.

Steubenville's Big Red and Martini Ferry, both unbeaten in Ohio competition, tangle Friday for the river front laurels.

Portsmouth East, loser only to state semi-finalist Fairland in a game, Jerry Schaffer of Hanoverton United has a 23-point

Crestview Places 7th In 'A' Ratings

Class AA this season and has won six in a row. Portsmouth's Trojans, defending Class AA champions, lost their eighth in nine starts Friday to Hamilton Garfield and didn't pick up a single mention in the poll.

Petty Leads Wooster

Don Kunkle of Mansfield Madison and Mac Petty of Wooster each had 35 points in Friday's game, but Petty had more help and Wooster won 69-64.

John Meyers, 6-foot-5 Struthers senior, got 40 as Boardman was blasted 84-49.

Bob Dove Jr. is the top scorer for Canfield in Mahoning County. The 6-foot-5 youngster is the son of Bob Dove, former Notre Dame and Chicago Cardinal grid star.

You don't have to be big to be a basketball great. Rick Taylor of Alliance is averaging 21.3 points a game, Jerry Schaffer of Hanoverton United has a 23-point mark, and Chic Campbell of Alton (Portage County) is going at a 29-point clip. Each is 5-foot-11. Campbell got 57 points in Saturday's 87-70 win over Hiram.

Massillon and Barberville were knotted 39-39 at the end of regulation play. In the overtime Barber led 44-39 with 61 seconds to go.

Massillon scored eight in the minute-plus to take it 47-44. Who scored the winning points? No one but Ken Ivan, the All-Ohio football end, who got the last three to wrap it up.

Fort Frye Wins 14-1

Fort Frye, averaging 80 points per game, didn't need that many Saturday night. Caldwell, the foe, didn't take a shot from the field as it froze the ball at mid-court, and Fort Frye loafed to a 14-1 conquest. Gary Bates led the attack with six ticks.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—How many sports editors, 31 from newspapers and 18 from radio-TV stations, rate Ohio's high school basketball teams this week. Shown are the first place votes in parentheses, the poll points on a 10-9-8-etc. basis, and the won-lost records of the leaders.

Bucking AAU Controls

New Track Group Seeks Power Shift

NEW YORK (AP)—What are the chances of the newly formed National Collegiate Track Coaches Association wresting power from the AAU?

Mighty slim one authoritative source who asked that his name not be used, told The Associated Press today.

"Look at it this way," he said. "The coaches can do all the howling they want. They can form all the new federations they want and even conduct meets."

"But who is going to recognize them? If they want to send their athletes into international competition, and that includes the Olympics, they must gain recognition from the International Amateur Athletic Federation. This outfit certifies the governing bodies in all sports."

The AAU is recognized by the IAAF now and always has been. So the coaches' association sends a delegate to the IAAF convention and asks to be recognized. Do

East, West All-Stars To Tangle In St. Louis

By JAMES VAN VALKENBURG

Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The East will counter the West's awesome scoring power in tonight's National Basketball Association All-Star game with the game's two best rebounders, experience and another potent element—pride.

Dolph Schayes, Syracuse veteran selected for all 12 NBA All-Star games put it this way: "There is a lot of pride in-olved in this game on both sides. But the East particularly wants to even matters for that 151-133 defeat last year at Syracuse.

"As the years go by it becomes a little harder to stay at your peak," said Schayes, playing in his 14th pro season. "But this is one game you have no trouble getting fired up for."

The West's starters, led by Elgin Baylor of Los Angeles with a 38.3 scoring average and St. Louis veteran Bob Pettit (31.2), have a combined scoring average this season of 158.7 points a game. The East starters total 133.3.

The East, coached for the sixth straight year by Boston's Red Auerbach, have 7-1 Wilt Chamberlain of Philadelphia (49.3), basketball's top all-time scorer, plus Bob Cousy (15.1).

Chamberlain, in the voting, edged Boston's Bill Russell, a great defensive player and 19-point scorer. Russell and Chamberlain are the game's two best rebounders.

In addition to Chamberlain and Cousy starters are Schayes (17.3), Tom Heinsohn, Boston, (22.8) and Richie Guerin, New York, (28.8).

Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson (30.7), rookie Walt Bellamy of Chicago, (29.7), and Jerry West of the Lakers (28.8), are the other West starters.

West coach is Fred Schaus.

Reds Named 'Comeback of Year' Team

By BEN OLAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Reds, National League baseball champions for the first time in 20 years, made the 1961 comeback of the year.

Eighty-eight of the 134 sports writers and broadcasters participating in the annual Associated Press year-end poll tabbed the Reds' form reversal as the most outstanding made by any team or individual.

Columbia's football Lions, co-winners of the Ivy League crown, were a distant second followed by the Oklahoma and Notre Dame football teams, baseball's Detroit Tigers and Y.A. Tittle, veteran quarterback of pro football's New York Giants.

The tally was made on a basis of three points for a first place, two for second and one for third. Cincinnati collected 314 points, Columbia 80, Oklahoma 40, Notre Dame 32, Detroit 27 and Tittle 26.

The Reds, rebounding from a 57-87 record that left them in sixth place, 28 games behind pennant-winning Pittsburgh in 1960, won 93 games and lost only 61 last season. They split the first two games of the World Series with New York, then lost when the Yankees swept the next three.

The Other Day

We got to talking about the Seven Wonders of the World, and it came out that there were actually five or six different groups of them, each in its own time, including Al Parker the first Seven Wonders compiled in the Alexandrian period, about 200 B.C., with others following, up to our modern Seven Wonders of the World including separate groups of industrial wonders.

The modern 7 wonders of the world were listed in 1931 as: 1. The Great Pyramid of Egypt and the adjacent Sphinx (2700 B.C. or earlier). 2. Hagia Sophia in Istanbul, a church and later a mosque (completed about 600 A.D.). 3. The Leaning Tower of Pisa, (completed about 1400 A.D.). 4. The Taj Mahal of Agra, India, a mausoleum (completed in 1688 A.D.). 5. The Washington Monument in Washington, D.C. (completed in 1885). 6. The Eiffel Tower in Paris (completed in 1889). 7. The Empire State Building in New York, City, (completed in 1931).

There also is a list of the seven wonders of transportation: 1. Automobile, 2. Streamlined Train, 3. Ocean liner, 4. Nuclear Submarine, 5. Airplane, 6. Jet plane, 7. Rocket.

We might add an 8th wonder of transportation. He is the capable mechanic who can properly service and maintain the complex modern automobile. We've got some 8th wonders in our organization, thank goodness, and they are here to serve you. PARKER CHEVROLET CO., 292 West State St., telephone ED 2-4684.

LITTLE LIZ

The Doctor Says

By Dr. H. T. HYMAN

Questions And Answers

Q—Does coffee contain any nutritive element or vitamins?

A—Coffee has no nutritive value unless you add sugar and cream. Just as most of the cold cereals, recommended for children's breakfasts, do little to meet the youngster's enormous energy requirements unless they are powdered with sugar, drenched in milk or cream and topped with sliced fruit.

However, I recently learned to my surprise that a cup of dark roast coffee contains a sufficient quantity of one of the many ingredients of the vitamin B complex (niacin) to provide about one-fourth of the daily adult requirement.

Q—All my life I have been very nervous and full of tensions. First, my heart begins to beat fast, then I have a feeling that I can't catch my breath and then the opposite feeling that I'm breathing too often. I'm afraid to leave home most of the time or go in crowds. I've been to many doctors and clinics and taken all kinds of medicines and injections but nothing seems to help. Do you think I should be psychoanalyzed?

A—Dear, dear madam. Nothing is going to help you if you are unable to realize that the very persistence of your symptoms is proof that you have no organic disease of significance. For if you did, surely one of the many doctors or clinics you visited would have detected it after all these years.

Are you quite sure you're not exploiting your "nervousness" to escape responsibilities? Or duties you don't happen to like or enjoy? Or should I stand in the corner for making so cruel a suggestion?

Q—My boy just recovered from an attack our doctor called scarletina. Now a girl down the street has the same symptoms but her doctor said it was scarlet fever. Our doctor did not suggest quarantine but the other doctor did. Is scarletina different from scarlet fever? If so, is it safe to omit quarantine?

A—The terms are used interchangeably. Each is due to a streptococcal infection. Each is highly contagious. Each is subject to quarantine regulations in every community with which I am familiar. However, much more effective than quarantine is prevention through the use of drugs (chemoprophylaxis).

By the simple administration of effective anti-streptococcal products to each exposed child, secondary cases can be reduced to a minimum if not completely eliminated.

By administration of an effective dose of an effective streptococcid ("strep-killer"), the infected child ceases to become an infectious menace after a very few hours.

An Alarm Clock, Too?

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—Women are always getting credit for being chauffeurs, nurses, cooks, housekeepers and laundresses.

Well, I can add another job to that list. I serve as an alarm clock too.

Not just the ordinary kind of clock that buzzes, rings, tinkles or flashes a light, either.

I pat, poke, prod, shake, whistle, groan, grumble, threaten, command and bring orange juice.

No store-bought alarm clock ever worked as long or hard to get a man up as I do, and I don't get paid overtime for it. In fact, no electrically powered clock has ever yet managed to get my husband out of bed in the morning.

He wakes up just long enough to turn the thing off and that's the extent of his dealings with the timepiece.

From then on it's my job to get my sleepyhead off to his job and I'm quite convinced he doesn't work half as hard at the office as I do getting him there.

Instead I find him snoring happily in the exact position in which I left him.

Incensed, I remove my kid gloves and attack the problem—and my husband—with vigor and a firm hand. After finally capturing his attention I direct his reluctant gaze to the bedroom clock, which shows that he should have been out of the house 20 minutes before.

The realization that he lives in an unfeeling world where alarm clocks and time clocks combine to make life miserable finally jolts him out of bed and into his clothes.

Meanwhile—back in the living room—I station myself, glass of milk and vitamin pill in outstretched hands, between the bedroom and the front door. He grabs the milk and pill from me on his way out, gulps them down and mutters grumpily, "I'm going to be awfully late. Why didn't you wake me sooner?"

Don't tell him he'd be later still if I didn't keep the bedroom clock set 15 minutes fast!
